Solar PV Installation Workshop Hosted by Schletter Inc., Hartford, Connecticut

June 30, 2011 Tucson, AZ — Schletter[®], a well-known, reliable partner in solar photovoltaic (PV) racking systems, will be hosting a three-day solar PV installer workshop in Hartford, Connecticut, August 23 – 25 at the Sheraton Bradley.

Schletter will dedicate the first day to residential and small commercial installation companies, who seek more product knowledge of Schletter racking systems and planning software. During day two and three of the workshop, Schletter has invited industry leaders to host workshop sessions for utility-scale and large commercial installation companies. In addition to practical training, several classes qualify as NABCEP[®] continuing education credits.

“Schletter provides cost-effective racking with short turnaround times, efficiently, while including end-to-end engineering in each product, regardless of its size,” says Martin Hausner, President of Schletter Inc. “As a U.S. manufacturer, providing some of the lowest prices in the market is something we are proud to have achieved. Because of our global reputation, we believe taking the lead in such workshops is a valuable service for our customers.”

The Company [Schletter] has established an on-line information page at <http://www.schletter.us/event-registration.html> for this event.
